

CONGRESS CLOSED TODAY

EXPRESS OPINIONS ON EXTRA SESSION

STATEMENTS ARE MADE BY PARTY LEADERS REGARDING WORK ACCOMPLISHED AT SPECIAL SESSION.

SOME NOT SATISFIED

Democrats Are Genuinely While Progressives Republicans Are Dissatisfied—Statements of Owen and Bristow.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—Statements made today by leaders on the result of the special session of congress, ended today, were in brief as follows: Republican Leader James H. Mann: "The session strengthened President Taft and weakened the democrats before the country."

Senator Robert S. Owen: "The wisdom or unwisdom of Taft's views must now be settled by the people."

Senator Joseph L. Bristow: "Taft's veto of statehood was unjustifiable."

Senator F. E. Warren: "The session showed the people that Taft is a safe and sane leader."

Rep. Victor Murdock: "The country now knows congress is responsible to its will. The judiciary now must be made so."

Not Entirely Satisfied.

Senator Joseph L. Bristow of Kansas, progressive republican, declared that not everything that should have been accomplished by the extra session, has been done. Following is his statement:

"The special session has not accomplished what it should have done, though it has to its credit some substantial legislation."

"The corruption practices... have some restraining influence on excessive expenditure of money in congressional and senatorial elections."

"The tariff bill, I think, will not produce satisfactory results. I think it will slightly reduce the price of farm products but not the cost of living, because the reduction will all be absorbed by middlemen."

Greatest Triumph.

"Efforts of the progressive republicans to reduce excessive duties on manufactured articles failed through a combination of the President, stand-pat republicans, and certain democrats. The passage by the senate of the resolution for direct election of senators is the greatest triumph of the reason for progressive legislation that is tied up in conference because certain southern democrats demand as a price of direct elections that the federal government shall give up the power it has always had, to regulate the time and method of electing senators."

"President Taft's veto of the statehood resolution was an unjustified exercise of power. Because he personally disapproves of the recall of judges he saw fit to deny the people of Arizona the right to frame their constitution as they think best."

Thanks to Democrats.

Senator Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma, democrat, further expressed his views as follows:

"The extra session, thanks to the democrats, has removed some of the barriers to commerce between the United States and Canada by the reciprocity act."

"Thanks also to the democrats, we have provided for admission of Arizona and New Mexico in which I rejoice to have had a part. The refusal of the President to permit unrestricted constitutional government to Arizona is a distinct national misfortune. The recall of judges will be demanded by the people of the states whenever they find it necessary. It is a fundamental right which every state should have, whether the policy be wise or foolish."

A National Advance.

"The initiative, referendum and recall has made a national advance through the approval by congress of that part of Arizona's constitution."

"The President himself has been compelled to concede the right, and the justice of the initiative, referendum and recall with the sole exception of the judiciary. The President's refusal to accept the wool schedule is equivalent to saying that he is not willing to agree to the schedule acceptable to the progressive element of his party. The wisdom or the unwisdom of his views must be settled by the people."

CHAMP CLARK IS MOST OPTIMISTIC AS TO RESULTS

Believes Present Congress Has Paved Way For Many Needed Reforms.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—Champ Clark, speaker of the house of representatives, in a review of the work of the first session of the sixty-second congress, declared that the democratic party set a good example for democracy everywhere and that the party had redeemed every promise it made in the campaign of 1910 when the democrats wrested control of the house from the republicans.

"At this session the democrats have made a record which has surprised our friends and disconcerted our enemies," said Speaker Clark. "It has put heart and hope into democrats everywhere. The extra session was extraordinary not only in the sense of being a special session called by the president, but also in the amount and quality of the work done in the house by the combined democrats and insurgents, and the combined democrats and republican insurgents in the senate, and especially by the unanimity of action developed by the house democrats."

"It was predicted freely, vociferously, enthusiastically and confidently by the 'stand pat' press and orators that we would go to pieces. On that account and by reason of that hope they rejoiced that the extra session of congress was called, so that we might go to pieces at the earliest possible date. But we have sorely disappointed all their expectations. They even put the date when we would go to pieces, which was the day of the democratic caucus on January 19, but unfortunately for them it came off every day of the session."

"The next morning when they found we had agreed in spite of their malicious predictions to the contrary, they had to pluck themselves to see if they would go. They then said surely we would go to pieces as soon as we reached the tariff question, but again they were doomed to disappointment, and we did not go to pieces at all. We were more thoroughly united in the house at the end of the session, if possible, than at the beginning."

"We have set a good example to democrats everywhere. Sinned at for years as a party of mere negotiation and as being utterly lacking in ability for constructive statesmanship, we passed through the house more constructive legislation, and better, than has passed through any house in the same length of time in twenty years. We have set the pace in that regard for future houses."

"We redeemed every promise made in order to carry the elections in 1910. We have honorably, we passed the reciprocity bill, the wool tariff bill, the free list bill, the cotton bill with the senate amendments, which included the iron and steel schedule and the chemical schedule; we submitted for ratification a constitutional amendment providing for popular election of senators of the United States, we passed a bill for the publication of campaign expenses before the election; we liberalized the rules, making the committee elective by the house; we passed a resolution to admit New Mexico and Arizona, and we passed a large number of other bills of more or less importance. It is a record of which we may well be proud and on which we will sweep the country in 1912."

"To show how completely the 'stand pat' republicans are demoralized it is only necessary to quote the newspaper statement that there was great rejoicing and congratulation at the white house because we failed by a scratch to get the two-thirds majority to override the president's veto, although we have only sixty-three majority in the house. To this complexion has it come at last, that the president, who rode into power by a huge majority, is glad to escape the humiliation of having his veto overridden in a sixty-three majority of only sixty-three. Small favors are thankfully received by the administration."

"Notwithstanding the fact that four cabinet members were on the floor of the house lobbying in favor of the veto with all their power, influence and patronage of the administration to help them to secure votes, 221 insurgents and democrats, 221 insurgents and democrats had the courage and manhood to override the president's veto. What's left is left, and whatever the future may have in store, the honor of having perfect unanimity among the democrats and of achieving an extraordinary amount of constructive statesmanship at this extraordinary session can never be taken away from us. Every democrat in the house and every insurgent republican who stood up to the rack is entitled to his full share of credit."

"We honestly and persistently endeavored to relieve the people of some of their burden of taxation, but the president would not have it. To use a sporting phrase he blocked the game." On these issues we appeal to the country, feeling absolutely certain that as we have stood manfully for the best interests of the people, the people will stand by us."

The four cabinet officers to whom the speaker referred as having been on the floor of the house when the tariff revision votes were pending in that body, were Attorney General Clegg, Postmaster General Hitchcock, Secretary of War Stimson, and Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagle.

Realty Deal: According to the terms of a deal filed today, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Erickson have sold to Ole Knudsen, property in the town of Avon. The consideration was $1,000.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]

Washington, Aug. 22.—In his message vetoing the cotton bill, sent to congress this afternoon, President Taft scored the methods of the House and Senate in adopting the measure. Not Considered. ## INSURANCE ABUSES ARTICLE'S SUBJECT

Talk on the State's Insurance Question Is Topic For the Printed Article.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Aug. 22.—Insurance abuses arising from the accumulation of large sums of money in the treasuries of some life insurance associations and fraternal societies without any proper accounting, or even a tentative appointment of the equities of the individual members, are the subject of a thoughtfully written brochure by Lewis A. Anderson, actuary of the Wisconsin insurance department, which has just been published. The oftentimes scandalous extent to which misappropriation and conversion of funds have been carried is typified in several glaring examples cited in this pamphlet, which bears the "Valuation of Assets and Stipulated Premium Policies."

Many instances are cited to show how funds accumulated out of the contributions of the members have been literally stolen because there was no accounting, nor appointment of the funds on hand.

"But the worst feature of such transactions," says the author, "is the revolting fact that they are often made under the sanction of law and the approval of the insurance department of the state. Small wonder that the layman acquiesces in contempt for law or that class hatred prevails."

Official reports show, says Mr. Anderson, that there are scores of societies, with assets in some cases running into tens or twenty millions of dollars contributed principally out of the hard-earned savings of the laboring classes. Mr. Anderson has devised a formula designed to stop wholesale stealing of such funds. It has been worked out by the aid of higher mathematics, comprehensible only to those with actuarial knowledge. It modifies the present formula by making it possible, in dealing with two existing societies, to apportion the entire fund practically by one operation. With his new formula, Mr. Anderson does not claim to be able to make the apportionment absolutely accurate, but believes that for all practical purposes the values can be determined with sufficient accuracy and with a minimum amount of labor so that substantial justice may be done to all concerned and the misappropriation of the funds be forever prevented.

Republican Leader of House Mann Says Attempt to 'Put President In Hole' Only Strengthened Taft.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Aug. 22.—Republican Leader Mann, in a statement issued today, giving the minority work of the extra session of the democratic congress, declared the net result was to strengthen the President and weaken democracy and that the democrats "trying to put the President in a hole" in tariff legislation, had been "hoist by their own petard." Mann charges that the democrats prevented the popular election of the United States senators by tacking on the amendment to deprive the federal government of its powers, also pension legislation and laws for the protection of the Alaskan resources. "The democrats brought the tariff bills to a grotesque form with the plain avowal they neither knew nor cared what effect the bills would have on home industries," says Mann. "They prepared the tariff bills without knowledge either of form or substance. The special session was called by the President in fulfillment of the obligations of his agreement with Canada to consider and pass Canadian reciprocity. That bill has become a law."

MILE TRACK IS IN SHAPE FOR RACES

Track At Fair Grounds Rolled and Levelled Yesterday and Is in Splendid Condition For Motorcycle Meet.

After last night's rain the mile track at the Fair Grounds was a little too soft for use today and riders who were practicing on the course were kept out today, the gates to the enclosure being locked. By tomorrow, however, if the weather continues fair, the track will be in fine shape for practice and should be in splendid condition for Saturday's motorcycle races, one of the biggest events ever held in this city. The course was torn up by automobile drivers running their cars around it and it looked to be in bad shape, but this fault has been remedied. Yesterday the steam roller was put on the track and rolled it out smooth and a drag and float were put on it to level it. The rain last night packed it down and by tomorrow it will be in the best of condition.

Some of the best and fastest riders in the northwest are entered in the motorcycle races on Saturday, and it would be no surprise if some of the records were broken on that date. "Flash" Wade of Milwaukee and Shorty Matthews, the Thor champion, will participate, and are expected to set new records. Hubbard Stevens of Madison, an amateur, who has traveled a fast clip over the tracks will take part and the Madison Motor Club will be here to see him ride.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 22.—Ray Branson of Indianapolis and Dave Dasher, the Boston boxer, have finished training for their ten-round contest to take place in this city tomorrow night. Both were declared draws. The two are regarded as very evenly matched and as a consequence they are counted upon to put up an interesting fight.

California Stands Treat.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 22.—After the notable demonstration of hospitality given today to Eagle in attendance on the national convention of the order now in session here is likely to return home with anything but praise for the city of San Francisco and the State of California. It was "open house" day on the convention calendar and practically everything in the way of solid and liquid refreshment was dispensed free to visitors. Ten thousand gallons of choice wine and carloads of California oranges, figs, plums, olives, cherries, grapes, raisins and almonds were distributed with a lavish hand.

Pine Bluff 70 Years Old.

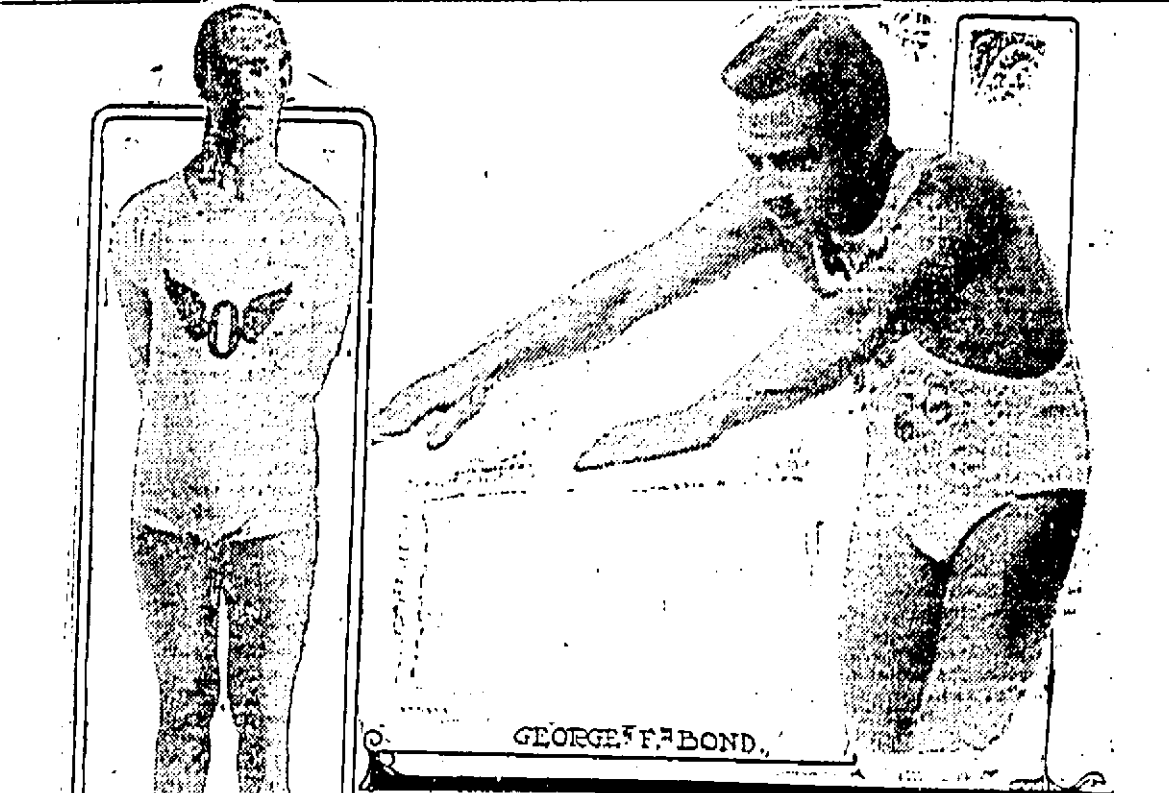

Pine Bluff, Ark., Aug. 22.—The seventy-fifth anniversary of the birth of Pine Bluff was the occasion of a big celebration by the citizens today. The town was laid out August 22, 1832, a family by the name of Patten making the survey. The original town comprised forty-five blocks, but fourteen of them have been washed away by the encroaching river.

WALTER M. POMEROY. GEORGE F. BOND.

Club, swam across the Golden Gate on July 23, the first amateurs to span by water the out jutting lands of San Francisco and Marin counties. Their remarkable time for the feat was 24 minutes and 50 seconds for Pomeroy who led the way, and 28 minutes and 33 seconds for Bond. They plunged into the water at Fort Point and landed under the Line Point Lighthouse, to the accompanying screech of the fog horn.

Two other men have accomplished the watery journey across the Golden Gate. In September 21, 1899, Charles Cavill, the Australian, swam from Line Point to the Presidio beach in 1 hour and 15 minutes, and on October 10 swam the same route in 1 hour and 18 minutes.

BRESNAHAN ARCHER

ARE NATIONAL LEAGUE CATCHERS BETTER THAN AMERICAN?

New York City.—A careful analysis of the receivers in the National and American leagues shows absolutely beyond doubt to the unbiased fan, that the older organization is without question the stronger of the two major leagues in this important department. With such men as Roger Bresnahan, Johnny Kling, George Gibson, Chief Myers, Larry McLean, Red Doolin, and Jimmy Archer, each and every one was on their respective teams, the National league shows a lot of catches supreme in their work, not only behind the bat, but at the bat.

Against these, the American league offers Charley Street, Ira Thomas, Ed. Sweeney, Ted Easterly, Jimmy Stevens, Billy Sullivan, Bill Curran and Oscar Stange, all good men, but scarcely to be compared with the catches of the National league.

In the way of promising catchers of the future, the American league seems to have a little the better of the argument. With two youngsters like Stange and Easterly, showing the form they are, there is ground for the prediction that one of the pair will surely become a world-beater at no far distant date.

Books will be issued to depositors and the money will be placed in a local bank or banks that will be designated by the treasury department of the United States.

SWEET CIDER WILL BE VERY PLENTIFUL

Ample Apple Crop Promises Lots of First Class Vinegar.

Elder vinegar—the real article—should become a commodity with which people in general can become familiar this year. For so many years had elder vinegar been unknown as a household product that it is now being classed with almost forgotten things like maple sugar and corn bread.

Probably not for ten years has there been so much elder already made by the farmers of this country, and along with the season, when the fall and winter apples ripen, the quantity will be many times greater.

The great surplus of apples in this vicinity has given rise to many peculiar conditions as it relates to elder. One thing is noticed, and that is that the elder press, which formerly was a part of the equipment of many farms, the same as the threshing machine and mower, is now a rarity among the farmers of Wisconsin and Illinois. The any years in which the scarcity of apples made the elder press a useless piece of machinery, has led many farmers to let their apparatus of this kind rust or rot.

Now they are in great demand and every farmer who has a new apple tree on his place could make himself a quantity of elder and elder vinegar. It only he had the apparatus of this kind, who handle elder presses, have sold more to them this season than any year for a decade.

Of course, elder keeps sweet only a short time, but the average farmer in other years used the elder for the usual purpose while sweet and then barreled large quantities and let it turn to vinegar. In this taste it is kept indefinitely. It is said that there are farmers in this vicinity who have elder vinegar in their cellars which was made at least ten years ago. The supply of such stored vinegar, however, is at low ebb, and the farmers will welcome another year of profitable apple crop, when they can replace their supply of vinegar.

Another peculiar feature of the situation is that the quantity of elder made is giving rise to a demand for old barrels, vinegar or other barrels suitable for holding vinegar is finding a ready sale for the same.

Next Thanksgiving the elder pie which adorns the festive dinner table should be seasoned with pure elder cider.

TAX COMMISSION'S REPORT SHOWS A DECIDED INCREASE

Critic of Last Legislature Was Evidently Without Foundation.

[Special to the Gazette.]
Madison, Wis., Aug. 22.—Recent (Janesville) reports of the ultimate effects of the unprecedented expenditures ordered by the last legislature will have to be modified if the views of the state tax commission are followed. In its biennial report just issued the commission presents tables and careful analyses to prove that while public expenditures have continuously expended it is not true that they have become correspondingly more burdensome. While admitting there is waste generally in the handling of public money, the commission, viewing the situation comprehensively, declares there is little reason to fear that public expenditures are growing at a more rapid rate than the ability of the taxpayers to meet the burden. Throughout the period from 1872 to 1909 the average tax rate upon the census estimate of the true value of property has followed closely the actual movement of property values.

Light On Subject.
Much light on this subject and the assessment problem generally is afforded by a chapter on state and local assessments, written by the statistician of the commission, A. E. James, in an exhaustive discussion. It gives credit to the tax commission for adding to the assessment rolls many millions of property which hitherto had not borne their share of the burden. The first year the commission made a state assessment, he says, the total was increased more than $400,000,000, an amount very largely in excess of the entire assessment prior to that date. The local assessment in three years following increased more than $700,000, notwithstanding mortgages of taxable real estate were in effect exempted from taxation. Since 1903, however, according to Mr. James, state assessments have increased nearly one billion dollars, while local assessments have increased only $250,000,000. Where local assessments were in 1872 nearly 71 percent of true value, in 1909 they were less than 69 percent.

Higher Assessment.
The tables show that real estate has been assessed at a higher relative value, locally, than personal property. While real estate has dropped from slightly less than 70 percent to a little over 62 percent of true value, personal property has fallen from a little over 53 percent to slightly more than 47 percent of true value. In the state assessment of 1910 money and credits formed 1.12 percent of all property, and was the largest single item of personal property except merchants and manufacturers' stock.

Wide Range in Ratio.
"Among the other items of personal property there is a wide range in the ratio of assessed to true value. Horses, cattle, sheep and swine form a group of property which appears to be assessed very much above the average. The same is true of bank stock, bank stock, merchants and manufacturers' stock and water and light companies form nearly ten percent of the total value of all property and nearly 42 percent of the total value of all personal property in the state assessment. The group of all other personal property is composed of items common both in the rural and urban districts. This group is poorly assessed by local assessors both in the country and in the city, and comparisons of relative assessments between rural and urban communities are best made without taking it into account. Because of the ease with which farm property can be valued there is considerable evidence in the figures that in local assessments and perhaps in county equalizations farm property is generally over-valued as compared with property in cities and villages. This failure to value certain classes of property up to the level at which real estate is valued, while perhaps the result of intention in some cases is probably more often the result of the inability of the local assessor to value large aggregates of property in manufacturing or mercantile enterprises. One of the weaknesses therefore of our present system of taxation is its failure to deal efficiently, not only with intangible property, but with tangible property when concentrated in large amounts for business purposes."

Northern Part Lower.
Maps in the commission's report show that as a whole the northern part of the state is assessed at a lower ratio than the southern. All of the seven counties whose average ratio of assessed to true value is less than 50 percent lie north of the southern line of Marathon county. Of the 35 counties whose ratio is under 60 but more than 50 percent, 19 are at least partly north of that line. Of the 20 whose ratio is between 60 and 65 percent only one is north or partially north of this line, and of the nine whose ratio is 70 percent and over, three are so located. Of these nine last named counties, Langlade and Clark can be regarded as among the best assessed counties in the state and stand with-out equals in the entire north half.

Ashland county while showing a high ratio does so only through the influence of the city of Ashland, which city is probably assessed on the average slightly more than 100 percent. Of the remaining counties in this group of relatively highly assessed counties, La Crosse is largely influenced by city assessments and the same is true of Kenosha. The four remaining counties, Calumet, Ozaukee, Washington and Columbia, are unquestionably among the most equitably and best assessed counties in the state, says Mr. James, and the three first named of these counties have had the services of exceptionally efficient supervisors of assessment. The same statement is made concerning Clark County, Milwaukee. He continues, stands out in marked contrast to the other counties in the southern half of the state. Its local assessment is less than 51 percent of the state assessment and is the very lowest of any south of the south line of Marathon county. It is in line with Forest, Marinette and Door. Containing nearly one-fifth of all the property in the state the low local assessment in Milwaukee county materially influenced the average ratio of the entire state. Since 1872 taxes have increased

TO TRAIN NURSES IN STATE SCHOOL

Unusual Advantages are Offered at Mendota School Which Will Begin Second Year.

[Special to the Gazette.]
Madison, Wis., Aug. 22.—A training school for nurses conducted by the state of Wisconsin is one of the latest forms of public service undertaken in a commonwealth already famous for originality in its economic system. At the state hospital at Mendota, on the north shore opposite this city, a course of 36 weeks has been successfully carried out. This training school was organized in September, 1910. Unusual advantages for the novice are claimed for this institution, not the least of which is the low cost of training. After a probation period of about two months, to test the fitness for the work, pupils receive $20 per month with an increase of $1 every three months until the maximum is reached in the position in which they are placed. If superior ability is shown the pupil may be advanced within a few months to some better position with an advance in salary. All employees are furnished room, board and laundry free of cost. The faculty consists of the superintendent of the institution, Dr. Charles Gorst; the superintendent of the training school, Miss Esther T. Jackson, and the following five assistant physicians: Dr. M. K. Green, assistant superintendent; Dr. William F. Lorenz, chief of the medical staff; Dr. August Santhoff, Dr. Mary Santhoff, and Dr. P. A. Sudberg. A course of lectures and demonstrations will be given by the faculty on all subjects taught in the school.

Chapter 346 of the laws of 1911 prescribes a three-years' course of instruction for anyone wishing to become a trained nurse and be qualified to pass the board of examining nurses in Wisconsin. It says: "Such instruction shall be both theoretical and practical in the following branches: Nursing, ethics, anatomy, physiology, hygiene, dietetics, maternal medicine, pathology, bacteriology, medical, surgical and gynecological nursing, obstetrics and nursing, including the care of the infant, and a thorough course of theoretical instruction and, when possible, practical experience in contagious nursing and the nursing of sick children."

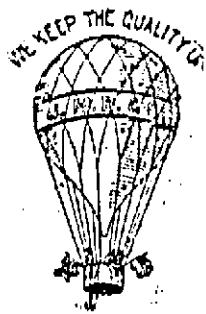

The course will be divided into three parts, each to constitute one year's work in any legally organized training school in the state. The hospital and others of its kind are termed "special," and under the law may teach the work of the first two years of the prescribed course of training. This hospital will affiliate with the general hospitals and its pupils will be admitted to the general hospital for the third year's work and for graduation, after which the nurse will be qualified to pass the state board of examining nurses and receive the degree of R. N.

It is announced that the school will teach not only the rules and regulations of the hospital, but will give thorough instruction in all that belongs to the art of nursing, so that pupils will be taught general sick nursing as well as the special care of the insane. Young women taking this course of training will be taught order, method, accuracy and the power of self control, and will find that culture will enter largely into their instruction. They must be between 18 and 27 years old, physically well and of good character. High school graduates are preferred.

Centenary of Inventor.
Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 22.—Today saw the centenary of the birth of William Kelly, who is generally credited with the invention of the Bessemer process, the invention of the Bessemer process, malleable steel, a discovery which revolutionized the steel industry and helped to make Pittsburg and the neighboring towns one of the greatest industrial centers in the world. Kelly was born in this city August 22, 1811, and early in life manifested an uncommon aptitude for mechanics. In 1837 he removed to Kentucky, where he acquired an iron works on the Cumberland River. Here it was that he conceived the plans of dispensing with fuel in the process of refining and decarbonizing iron by the introduction of a current of air. After several years of experimenting he finally perfected the process which was long known as "Kelly's air-blowing process," and which was used for the manufacture of boiler-plates before Sir Henry Bessemer was known. When the latter brought out his process in England in 1856, Mr. Kelly asserted that Bessemer had obtained his knowledge of the process from English workmen employed by him in America. Subsequently both inventors applied for patents in the United States, but the commissioner issued one only, to Mr. Kelly, acknowledging the priority of his invention of the process.

We were awarded the Gazette's Best Bargain Award last week. It is gratifying

We wish to again emphasize the Best Bargain of last week: The greatness of those suit and coat values at $8.95. It is generally conceded that no matter what the Big Store offers it is the best quality obtainable. Such a reputation is like a grand old tree, of very slow growth. It is an asset of our business that is worth as much as the value of our entire stock of merchandise. We are not charging these garments at $8.95, but several people have had them reserved and are making payments. Just like finding $10 to $20.

Wash Dresses at 1-2 Price --Here Is Your Opportunity

The final clearance of all Women's and Misses' Wash Dresses in white and colored. Every garment goes at HALF PRICE. We must now clear the way for fall goods, and wash dresses will be sacrificed regardless of cost. Every material is represented. People of Janesville and Southern Wisconsin are pretty thoroughly impressed with the fact that the Big Store can take care of them when it comes to Rugs and Floor Coverings. This idea of being able to save money on Rugs by buying them in Chicago has been exploded. There is nothing in it. People who have had to pay too much can tell you so. We don't ask you to buy in Janesville just for the sake of buying it, but because we can show you even if "you're from Missouri." We sell large Rugs $2.00 to $5.00 less than the "under heavy expense" Chicago Stores. Come to headquarters.

CONGRESS AT END AFTER LONG SESSION

Work Accomplished by Legislators in Special Session Closes.

SENATE CAUSE OF DELAYS

Trouble in Putting Through Legislative Program Blamed on Upper House—Session Called to Consider Reciprocity Takes Up Other Issues.

Washington, Aug. 22.—The extra session of congress is ended. Although it was called by the president solely for the purpose of passing the Canadian reciprocity bill, it was really recognized at the outset that the legislation of congress would not be confined to that one item. A tabulation of the progress of legislation enacted by the extra session fully justifies all the predictions made last April to the effect that the danger to the entire legislative program lay primarily in the senate.

The progress of legislation through both houses of congress during the session plainly indicates that by far the greater portion of the delays has been the fault of the senate.

HANDSOME PRINTED MATTER TURNED OUT FOR LOCAL FIRMS

Work of High Order Recently Turned Out by Gazette Job Department For Janesville Parties.

The manufacturing industries of Janesville are to be congratulated upon the high character of their printed matter and the fact that they are striving to better the material turned out for advertising purposes each year is much to their credit. Some very handsome pieces of work for several of the industries here have recently come from the printing department of The Gazette. One particularly nice catalog is a 5000 run for the Monitor Automobile Works, size 6x9, 32 pages and cover, inside printed in two colors, black and green on No. 1 enameled book and cover in two colors, and not embossed or raised lettering. The book is filled with handsome half tone illustrations of the various types and in running through the press the patent metal type was used to reproduce and secure a better effect. The book will represent the Monitor Automobile Works very faithfully.

Pres. W. W. Dale of the Janesville Business College is receiving congratulations from those who have seen his new catalog upon its splendid typographical appearance and for the clear and concise way in which he has treated the subject of his business. The book is of 32 pages with double covers. The body is printed in black and buff and on a high grade of India that enameled book. The covers are what is known as "Cloth-of-Gold" with double thick outer cover printed in two colors and tied with silk cord, and the effect is striking.

The character of the Parker Pen company's printed matter is such as to command attention wherever it is seen. A considerable amount of new printed matter in colors has been furnished for Mr. Parker recently, among the new ideas being a 12,000 run of window posters in two colors, size 15x25, printed on heavy supercalendered book paper and is the second of a series to be issued monthly and is intended to reflect the month's advertising of the Parker Pen Co. in the national magazines. Mr. Parker's "Slide-Talks" published every few weeks are always attractive pieces of business literature and combine quality in subject matter with the best in printed matter.

The Calorite Co. is increasing its reputation continually through the use of handsome printed matter designed and compiled especially for the various phases of their advertising campaign. A recent run of 50,000 12-page envelope cutouts in two colors, 50,000 folders in two colors, 200,000 8-page folders on India that book paper and considerable work of this character, besides other announcements before the public and must necessarily increase their standing as the largest builders of Fireless Cook Stoves in the United States. Each stove is equipped with a 16-page cloth cover of cook book and one experienced in culinary matters has been engaged recently in revising this book so that women are getting the benefit of the very best in recipes. The handling of the material for the various pieces of printed matter for this company is no small undertaking and the management is to be congratulated on their care and judgment in its preparation.

Father Ambrose of Dodgeville has recently issued through the Dodgeville Sun Republic 2000 copies of an 8-page book with full cloth binding, a beautiful piece of work. This was all the product of the printing department of The Gazette for the Sun Republic.

Proceedings of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, 1500 copies, has been furnished recently as well as several booklets of various sizes for the Kent Manufacturing Co. at Fort Atkinson and many smaller runs of color work for business houses not only in Janesville, but from out of the city as well.

Quantities of brief work for Janesville attorneys has been turned out also. This class of printing is necessarily "rush" and here again the four Linotypes meet the quick conditions. The equipment of the Printing Department of The Gazette is entirely adequate and is capable of producing the very finest printing both in quantity and quality. Three cylinder presses, four platen presses, a power cutter, Gilbert Harris zinc overlay process, battery of four Linotypes and a serial, types, etc., together with the highest class of artisans make a combination which will produce the very best results.

MAY PROBE PANIC SAYS RESOLUTION

Owen Offers Resolution to Inquire Into Facts of 1907 Disaster.

HINTS AT BIG CONSPIRACY.

Believes Financial Powers Engineered Deal and Gained Vast Profits Thereby—Calls Act Treason to the United States.

Washington, Aug. 22.—A resolution offered in the senate by Senator Owen of Oklahoma may lead to an investigation into the causes leading up to the panic of 1907 and the benefits secured from it by persons or corporations.

Immediate consideration was not asked. The resolution named as an investigating committee Senators Kern of Indiana, Works of California, Reed of Missouri, Page of Vermont and Clark of Wyoming.

Charges Deliberate Conspiracy.
"I believe the panic of 1907 was brought about by a deliberate conspiracy for enrichment of those who engineered it," said Senator Owen.

"Such a conspiracy ought not to go unrebuked. I regard it as treason against the United States. There are now a comparatively few men who control the power of expanding or contracting credits. This unrestrained power to create panics and to coerce this country politically."

Should Ignore All Expenses.
Senator Owen said he would call up his resolution at some future time and urge the appointment of the proposed committee of investigation.

"Congress should go to the bottom of the financial conditions, however long or expensive the investigation may be," said Senator Owen. "Such conditions as I believe inspired and controlled the panic of 1907 should be known to all the people."

NEW WAR AT WEST HAMMOND

Decline to Call City Election Until Spring—Clerk Holds Up Vouchers.

Hammond, Ind., Aug. 22.—Another war is imminent in West Hammond. After an apparent accession to the popular feeling expressed in a mass meeting of protest, the village board "shipped one over" on their trusting constituents and decided to remain in office until next spring.

The citizens saw the joke, and didn't like it. Led by Miss Virginia Brooks, the "Jorn of Arc" of the last election campaign, and Ignatz Pankowski, the reform village clerk, they outlined a fight through the courts and plan a suit for mandamus forcing an election this fall.

The opposition assumed the date would be this fall, and was mollified. After the meeting it was announced that the election would come March 12, 1912. Pankowski, the village clerk, has refused to sign the vouchers for the fathers' pay during the last two months, when they abstained from holding the usual meetings.

Murphy will return to Chicago and will hold a special consultation over the condition of his patient.

Mr. Robbins is known as the father of the bituminous coal monopoly, which resulted in the organization of the Pittsburgh corporation capitalized at $27,000,000, and controlling thousands of acres of coal holds in many parts of the United States.

Little Bed-Time Tales By EDITH HAVENS

The Sand Man

"What, Mr. Harry, how are you tonight," asked a big but kindly voice. Harry raised himself on one elbow.

In the farther corner of the room stood the funniest looking man he had ever seen.

He was dressed all in brown and upon his head was a funny peaked cap topped with a little brown tassel. He had such a pleasant face and smiled so gently that Harry wasn't the least bit afraid.

"Who are you?" asked Harry.

"I am the Sand Man," answered the visitor. "I have come to throw sand in your eyes so as you will go to sleep and rest."

"Well, you are not going to throw any sand in my eyes," said Harry, crossly.

"I do it to all good little boys and girls at night," added the Sand Man.

"No, no," shouted Harry. "You get out of here—I can go to sleep myself."

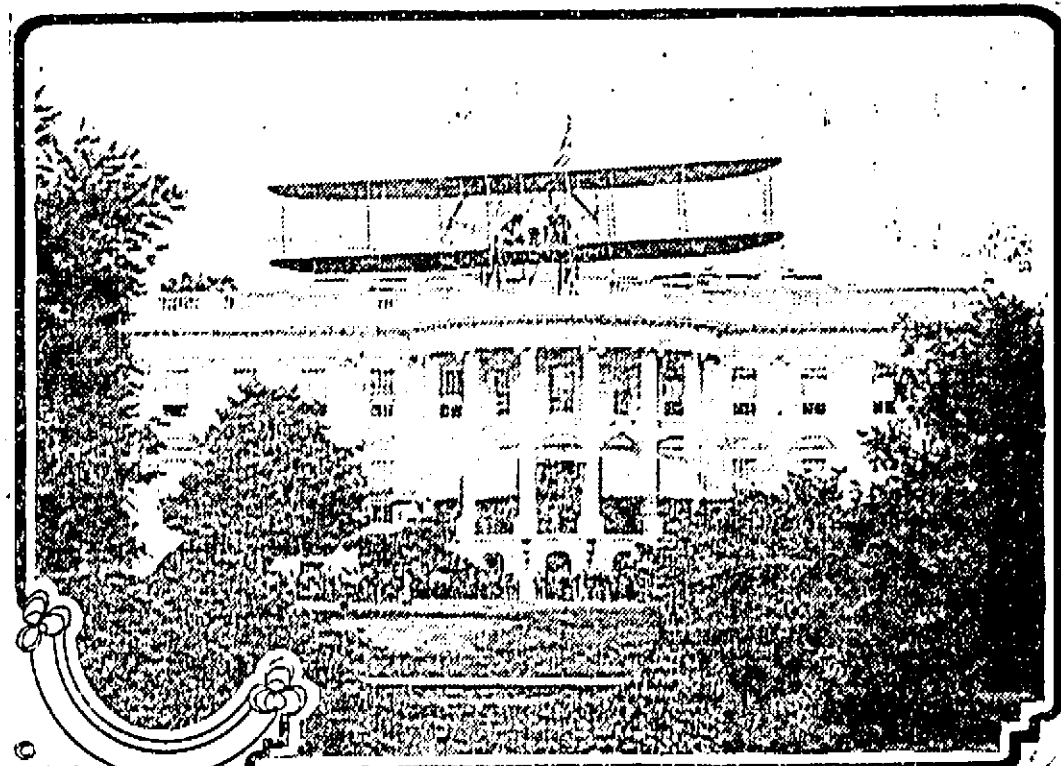

And then something terrible happened for the Sand Man began to throw great handfuls of sand into Harry's eyes. From out his great pockets the sand fairly poured by the barrels, and so fast did it come that already it was up to the Sand Man's knees and growing higher all the time. Harry shouted and cried and tried to get out of bed but in vain, for the sand was beginning to cover him up—bed and all.

"Oh, oh, oh," wailed Harry. "Stop, stop, stop!"

Suddenly there was a flash of light, and the next thing Harry knew he was sobbing in his mother's arms. And he told his mother the whole story.

"The Sand Man loves good little girls and boys," explained his mother. "It probably was because you were cross to him. You'll treat him better next time, won't you, dear?"

"Yes-sir-ee-sir," promised Harry.

MAINE IS SPANISH ISSUE

Chicagoan Hears United States Will Admit Error.

New York, Aug. 22.—Spanish politicians and statesmen have discovered that the United States at an international court of arbitration is to admit that the suspicion that the Maine was blown up by Spain is wrong, according to James Hamilton Lewis, former corporation counsel of Chicago, who arrived on the Prinz Friedrich Wilhelm. "They told me," said the colonel, referring to the rumors at Madrid, "that the United States would soon acknowledge its error. Then they purpose making a political issue of the matter. I was given this piece of information by one member of the cortes and by two politicians who are very well known."

100 DIE IN TRAIN WRECK

All Passengers and Crew Killed in Plunge Into Flood.

Mexico City, Aug. 22.—One hundred persons were killed and drowned when an express train on the National railroad plunged into the Amecame river. The bridge had been washed out by a flood. The exact number of dead will never be known, as many bodies were washed down stream and lost. At least thirty are still buried in the wreck at the bottom of the river.

Several Americans are known to have been passengers on the train.

Railway Confesses Violations.

Washington, Aug. 22.—The Norfolk and Western railway has notified United States District Judge Keller of West Virginia that it is prepared to confess judgment in a case of 27 counts for violation of the safety appliance law.

Taft Declines Invitation.

The Exceptional Case.
A West Virginia farmer found so many snakes in his meadow that he quit farming and went to hunting elsewhere for all. Now he has sold his share in an oil well for $1,500,000. It has done at least one man good to "see snakes."

Loss of Time Means Loss of Pay.
Kidney trouble and the flu it breeds means lost time and lost pay to many a working man. M. Balout, 124 Little Penna. St., Streator, Ill., was so bad from kidney and bladder trouble that he could not work, but he says: "I took Foley Kidney Pills for only a short time and I got entirely well and was soon able to go back to work, and am feeling well and healthier than before." Foley Kidney Pills are a tonic friend to the working man or woman who suffers from kidney ills. Foley Kidney Pills will check the progress of your kidney and bladder trouble and head by removing the cause. "Try them. Badger Drug Co.

40 % Increase In Janesville Manufactured Products

A careful study of the Bureau of Census's report of manufacturers in Janesville for the years 1909 and 1910, shows beyond question that Janesville is surely making progress. Our citizens certainly should feel proud of the advancement made by manufacturers and we should boast all the more for our city by encouraging our manufacturers to further effort.

While the number of establishments increased only 7 per cent the amount of capital invested increased from $2,056,000 in 1904 to $2,877,000 in 1909 or 40 per cent and the value of manufactured products increased from $3,846,000 in 1904 to $5,156,000 in 1909 or 31 per cent.

Further details can be drawn from the summary which follows:

	1909	1904	Per cent
Number of establishments	78	73	7
Capital	2,877,000	2,056,000	40
Cost of materials used	1,517,000	1,046,000	44
Salaries and wages	1,046,000	820,000	28
Miscellaneous expenses	514,000	376,000	37
Value of products	5,156,000	3,846,000	31
Value added by manufacture (products less cost of materials)	2,279,000	1,790,000	27
Number of salaried officials and clerk	354	294	21
Average number of wage earners employed during the year	1,151	1,148	8

While this showing is very gratifying there is one peculiar circumstance which must come to our attention and that is the fact that our population only increased from 13,185 in 1900 to 13,291 in 1910, an increase of .08 or a little over 5 per cent.

THE (45) BEST BARGAINS FROM OUR (45) BUSIEST STORES

Read Why

We are publishing this extraordinary page of specials

This paper has been studying for some time past the relative importance, interest and appeal the "advertising" of a modern paper should bear to the other "news" set forth in its columns.

(The result is staggering to the reporter and editorial pride.)

It has forcibly come to us that, what interests the world most to-day and has most interested them since the world began, is summed up in—

WHAT TO EAT—WHAT TO WEAR—WHAT TO HAVE IN THE HOME—HOW TO BEST SPEND MONEY TO PROMOTE THE MOST PLEASURE AND HAPPINESS AND COMFORT.

Compared with these great points which vitally concern humanity, the lesser happenings of life are but incidents.

And the person best qualified to interest the people of this city in these matters of most moment are by all means the merchants—the men who are in touch with the world's markets—who know what is being done in the new discoveries and origination of merchandise and food stuffs, to raise standards of living or change modes and styles.

Do the people of this city really appreciate this great truth? Do the merchants appreciate it themselves, is a question this paper has been asking itself and also the question—

HOW CAN THIS PAPER HELP bring a closer confidence and sense of mutual understanding and benefit between advertiser and the public?

In answer to this question THIS PAPER HAS SET ASIDE THIS SPACE for one day each week and has asked the merchants of this city to contribute

(What in their opinion will be their (one) most appealing bargain.

Moreover, we mean to devote this space one day each week to announcing these "best" bargains. We also mean to protect our merchants and our readers in the sincerity of all offerings, and so we will appoint a competent shopping committee to each week inspect all "best" bargain offerings and decide which is the ONE BEST BARGAIN OF ALL the decision of the committee to be published in the ad of the week following the insertion of the "best bargain."

45 Merchants Have Responded—some with price cuts, some with "new arrivals," some with style novelties, some with unique organizations, some with offerings possessing more than ordinary appeal to eye, palate, or ear.

This Ad is Bound to Contain many things to interest and appeal to every reader of this paper—many needed items at a big saving, many wanted things, many new suggestions; and so, even if you haven't a need, desire or wish unfulfilled at the present time, the reading of this ad and the succeeding ads will be well worth your while in developing your discernment, just for the interest and satisfaction of determining in advance in your own mind the "bargain" which the committee will select as "best," your faculty for picking out real bargains when you see them and also because these announcements from every point of view are bound to make

The most interesting reading of any page in today's paper

J. M. BOSTWICK & SONS

WOMAN'S PAGE

Thought for Today

THE DAY'S WORK.

HOW MANY women today rebel at the varied demands upon their time and feel discontent with the results of their scattered effort?

I remember it was my mother's habit to go over her day's work as she sat knitting after the supper dishes were done. She had baked and ironed and churned and mopped, perhaps. I know she was tired, but realized then, as I do now, that a certain sweet and comforting peace came to her as she thought of her service to her household.

Why should we not be satisfied when we have planned the meals, answered the telephone, written letters, gone to the club, made some calls, had friends to dinner. Perhaps because these occupations are too remote from the elemental work of the hands to give its sense of reward. They crowd out unproductive, and they do not bear the stamp of achievement. They crowd out so much that we would prefer to do and intend to do, that it all seems like a waste of time. Shall we give up and cry and say we are of no use in the world? If we are weak we may. Shall we resist, and make ourselves free from the conventional demands? If we are unusually strong, we may.

But we average women, what shall we do? To a certain extent, we must live according to our environment, like a tree where it is planted. We must contribute what we can to the standard of values of our "insure," but let us not fret away the little we really have left. And let us not destroy the last vestige of repose in continuous reference to how much we have to do and how hurried we are.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

WHERE all pleased the other morning to see a touring car stopping in front of the house next door.

"It is Mrs. L's cousin," she announced to each other with neighborly interest. "He has come to take her outing. Isn't that splendid? It's such a beautiful day, and she has had no vacation and needs some recreation so much. It will do her worlds of good."

A few minutes later we observed with neighborly concern that the car departed without Mrs. L.

In the forenoon, Mrs. L. in the course of a run-in, communicated the fact to us that it had been by drive.

"And why didn't you go?" we inquired.

"Well, I did want to," sighed Mrs. L., "but you know I had planned to put up my grape jelly today, so I really couldn't."

"Couldn't the jelly have waited until tomorrow?" we ventured to ask.

"Oh, yes; I suppose so," said Mrs. L.; "but I'd planned it for today, so I didn't like to put it off."

And yet such opportunities come to Mrs. L. not more than once or twice a year.

What a terrible thing slavery is.

Whether the master be another human being or one's possessions or one's own self—as in this case—our plans.

"He who every morning plans the transactions of the day and follows out that plan carries a thread that will guide him through the labyrinth of the most busy life," says Victor Hugo.

I most thoroughly agree as to the advisability of such a course, so long, and only so long, as he allows the thread to guide him and not to drag him; as long, and only so long, as he knows when he will gain most by not following out that plan.

A well-known English essayist who believes that the greatest good can be gotten out of life by having some definite program for the day, nevertheless has the sense to point out that to treat our programs with exactly the right amount of deference, to live with not too much and not too little elasticity, is scarcely the simple matter it may appear to the inexperienced.

He evidently had met people like Mrs. L. for he goes on to say, "I know men whose lives are a burden to themselves and a distressing burden to their relatives and friends because they would worship a daily program as a fetish. Oh, no; I have heard the martyred wife exclaim, 'Arthur always takes the dog out at eight o'clock, and begins to read at a quarter to nine. So it's quite out of the question that we should, etc., etc.' And the note of absolute finality in that plaintive voice reveals the unsuspected tragedy of a career."

The folly of going to such an extreme is surely as great as the folly of the man who will never make any definite and systematic plans.

The wise men and women are those who have definite programs for their time, but who always remember that the program exists for them, not they for the program.

The KITCHEN CABINET

THE KITCHEN CABINET is a short cut to power; it is the discipline of doing things that are hard. Suppose we make it the rule of our lives to choose the hard things first, the hard things then will all ways be behind, finished, done away with.

SOMETHING FOR DESSERT.

This is a recipe which won a prize of twenty-five dollars as the best one in a maple sugar contest:

Maple Surprise Balls.—Core and pare six apples that will cook tender without losing their form. When cool have some rice that has been cooked in milk until tender, flavored and sweetened to taste. Cover each apple with a coating of rice, using butter on the hands. Now set away to become thoroughly chilled. When the time comes to serve them, have a pint of maple syrup boiled to a waxy sludge, and insert a fork in the center and dip in the syrup, dripping it from a spoon all over until the rice is covered. It hardens as soon as it covers the cold balls. It is better to beat the syrup until it is quite creamy before dipping the apples. Set on individual plates, fill the core with chopped nuts and sirup, after rolling the apple in browned cocoanut. This dish may be prepared by using pears or fine flavored quinces. Of course this is not a dessert one would care to prepare for threehens in the busy market time.

Cocoanut Pie.—Line a plate with plain paste; fill with the following mixture: Two cups of milk, three egg yolks, one-half cup of sugar, one cup of grated cocoanut, a fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, the grated rind and juice of a lemon and a tablespoonful of butter. Bake carefully until the custard is thick.

Chocolate Cream Pie.—Melt two squares of chocolate or a half cup of cocoa; add four tablespoonfuls of cornstarch, three egg yolks, a little salt and a pint of milk. Cook in a double boiler until thick, stirring constantly. Flavor with vanilla. Pour into a baked piecrust shell, cover with three or four tablespoonfuls of sugar, and brown in the oven. Serve ice cold.

HOLLY DESIGN FOR CUSHION OR CORNER OF SCARF.

A cushion or scarf will be very attractive if decorated in the corners with this holly spray. It may be worked in white or colors as preferred. The berries are done in the solid satin stitch, and the leaves may be worked in the same way, or outlined. The stems are done in the outline stitch. Mercerized cotton No. 20 or flosses should be used.

Fads and Fashions

New York, Aug. 21.—It is still rather uncertain what changes in fashion the near future may bring, but there is accumulative evidence that some changes, though only slight and gradual, may be expected. Radical and revolutionary changes of fashion are no longer feasible. Women are led up to these changes gently and by degrees, so that they may not shy when confronted by them. The extensive use of lace and flounce trimmings is a great extent responsible for the slight deviation from the straight line silhouette, clearly noticeable in the latest models imported from Paris.

Some of the French makers of fashion seem to be determined to introduce perceptibly wider skirts. Models indicating an increasing sweep, usually limp and of bell like lines, have already appeared; but on the whole the late summer models go little further than the development of scant flounces, little frills and flat triple or double skirt arrangements.

The very sheer summer stuffs are undeniably prettier and more pleasant with some suggestion of fullness, particularly around the feet, and a group of four little overlapping lace frills on the bottom of a softly filled skirt of this line, weighted down into straight, narrow lines, is a prettier finish than the flat four band skirt, satin or heavy lace to which, nevertheless, women are so accustomed that even the flimsy little frills have a certain effect of novelty.

In many of the new models the waist line is a trifle high and it seems likely that many of the fall models will retain this very slight waist elevation, though the general opinion among the knowing is that the normal waist line will assert itself with emphasis this fall and that more of the curves of the feminine torso will be seen than have been visible in the toilettes of the last year.

Slashed skirts are said to be the greatest and most chic novelty of fashion in Paris. Skirts are cut away to show the ankle and instep, or, if not actually slashed there is a suggestion of buttons and buttonholes or a plait that suggests the presence of a slash for the moment not definitely evident. With these slashed skirts are worn soft silk or pleated chiffon petticoats of contrasting color, and a few daring women have appeared without petticoats, the silk-stockinged ankle being revealed as the skirt is moved in walking. It is not expected, however, that American women will take kindly to these slashed skirts.

There is more and more tendency to get away from the severe, mannish effects in women's tailored garb, and this season many snappy touches in the way of big, graceful collars, dashing cuffs, fancy buttons and awning panels or sashes give a sprightly and feminine suggestion to the indispensable coat and skirt suit.

Navy blue and searlet are appearing prominently in the autumn wardrobe. They are the old army colors deep navy blue and bright red, and are striking as well as youthful. Blue serge or rough tweed traveling and motor coats have head collars of searlet or broadcloth, and blue serge suits show dashes of the searlet in the trimmings.

With these semi-military suits, many of which have smart touches of black braid, are worn the broad brown hats heralding the approach of autumn. White is extremely good in a hat of this kind, bent into a becoming shape and trimmed simply with a soft scarf, a band or a military ornament.

A wide band of black velvet on the underedge and a belt to correspond introduce a pleasing note of contrast on an embroidered white voile frock fashioned in the popular straight time style. On a lingerie dress for a young girl black satin forms a smart collar, and is used also for belt and skirt plings. A big black silk bow serves for a girl of sixteen. The model is fashioned in one piece, opening in the front, a simulated opening in the back being fastened with white silk lacing.

Low neckwear will by no means be abandoned with the coming of autumn, though there is always a tendency toward high and formal neckwear as cooler weather approaches. For little fall street frocks of serge and mohair pretty collars and cuffs of linen and lace are ready and, of course, a handsome set of this sort will add greatly to the dressiness of even the simplest frock. The Cordway style of collar is used a great deal and is seen on many of the handsomest models.

Cheerful dotted veils are again fashionable, and colow effects hold their own with women who find them becoming, but the limp, silk mesh veils are the favorites of fashion at the present moment, and these veils in both white and black will be worn all through the early fall. When the veil has a handsome border it is draped gracefully from the hat brim and allowed to fall on the shoulders, the ends in the back reaching almost to the waistline. Ordinary face veils are drawn trimly and neatly back and pinned against the hair. Many folds of the veil are crushed under the chin and are sometimes tucked beneath the tail stock, making a very chic and neat appearance.

Tremendously high stocks will, it is predicted, take the place of the V-shaped neckwear of the summer, and these tall stocks are made of the sheerest laces, well boned and finished at the top with a satin hem or cording which keeps the thin material from getting shapeless and slumpy. Such stocks should be fitted well to the neck, and at the back there should be tiny loops and buttons, the only allowable being a handsome brooch, which may be thrust in at the top more as an ornament than a fastening.

Black and white as a combination is more in evidence than ever. Black and white stripes, black hats with white crowns and the other way around, white lingerie frocks trimmed with white and black or entirely black velvet bands and white stockings with black shoes are some of the many ways in which the vogue is expressed.

Lingerie gowns are elaborately trimmed with all-over eyelet embroidery and wide lace banding and insertion. In fact, many resemble monster cowboys, so open are the meshes.

For cool days at the shore stunning white serge and camel's hair suits are trimmed with many rows and arrowheads of colored silk. Blue, green, tan and black are principally featured.

A notable feature in hat trimming now is that the ribbon bows and flowers are no longer placed at the back. All trimmings are gradually working around toward the front of the hat.

Lingerie waists made of dimity are seen in the newest models in some of the exclusive shops.

There is little doubt that the coming autumn will bring along the little bolder jacket in numbers and variety.

Two large bottles of Hessian rum 150 years old are among the latest finds of historical experts who are excavating in the ruins of old Fort Washington on the Hudson river, just above Riverside drive, New York.

The excavations are on the site of the Hessian barracks, in what was for a long time known as "Death gulch" from the large number of Hessians who fell in the rout of Washington's army from the heights. The rum bottles were found 12 feet under ground.

Robbers Had Ingenuity.

An unusual scheme for robbing a gold mine was discovered at Nome, Alaska, a few days ago, when inspection was made of a dump that was thrown up three years ago. It was found that robbers had sunk a hole through the top of the dump and sluiced out all the inside, leaving a hollow shell standing. It is estimated that in this manner the thieves had obtained $5,000.

THE MAN WITH A

TOUPEE

Might of Had a Good Head of Hair

The man who wears a toupee does not like it, but has the courage of his conviction.

Nature never intended that the top of the head should be left entirely without protection. A bald head is very susceptible to contraction of colds and neuritis. Wearing an artificial top piece counteracts this tendency and, aside from the improvement in the personal appearance, is amply justified.

How much better it would have been had the man, now chronically bald

HE NEVER DONE THAT BEFORE.

INAPPROPRIATE.

It is very necessary, fifty, and nice; after long dry spells nothing else will quite suffice; but it is rather awkward when it begins to fall just after the umpire has shouted out: "Play ball!"

Not the Place.
Warden—This is the prison laundry.
Visitor—Do tell! Is that where you wash and iron the convicts?

Memories.
All have their woes.
The saddest yet,
Melancholy, are those
Who can't forget.

An Inspiration.
"Professor McMuddle is very ingenious in twisting things around to illustrate his theories, is he not?"
"Yes, I believe he proposes to take the fact of the champagne troubles in France nearly overturning the government, to illustrate the curse of drink."

The Penalty.
"There seems to be a penalty provided for everything but stealing a man's daughter."
"There's a penalty for that, too."
"I'd like to know what it is."
"Hard labor for life."

Defining His Position.
"Is your husband in favor of the initiative and referendum?"
"Yes," replied the woman in the sunbonnet; "and the recall and local option and anything that'll enable him to go to the polls and make a day's work."

Might Push Her In.
Last year he taught her how to swim. And patiently he taught her how; she'd love to learn this year again, but he won't help, they're married now.

Justifiable Apprehension.
"I proposed last night, and today I have seen the girl's father."
"A painful ordeal."
"Yes; I feel morally certain that he is going to borrow at least fifty dollars."

Strategy.
"And the thieves got away?"
"Yes; they rode away at their leisure, in one of those gentlemanly electric automobiles. The police never thought of looking in that."

The Lack of Metal.
"A silver present," wife said.
"We'll give, and praise thus win."
"Can't get silver," hub replied.
"I haven't got the tin."

Looking for an Argument.
"What makes that man keep saying he is not a candidate for office?"
"I don't know," replied Senator Sorghum, "unless it is in the hope that somebody will come out and contradict him."

Where?
Now, where's the girl
Who does not know
A bathing suit
Is all for show?

Hardly Worth While.
"Will you love me always?" inquired the summer girl.
"Certainly, if you wish it," replied the summer man. "But I'll only be at the beach two weeks."

Now He Would Break Out.
"Hello, Stubbs! Haven't seen you for months. The last time we met, I remember you were trying to break into literature. Did you succeed?"
"Yes; and I've been broke ever since."

A Preference.
"I'd rather be a live rabbit than a dead lion," he said, after they had been sitting for a long time when the silence was almost oppressive.
"Well," she replied, "you set your wish."

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Associated Press is a lively institution. Among its today's dispatches is an account of the opening of the Madison Park hotel on the 19th inst.—four days ago. We respectfully decline to publish it as long as we can get Paris news three days later.

Third Ward Election.
At the third ward special election for aldermen yesterday, eighty-five votes were cast, of which eighty-five were for D. C. McNeill, an undoubted majority. Mr. McNeill has been elected three times to this office, within the past few months, and as he resides within the boundaries of the ward, it is to be presumed that he is a bona fide alderman. We must wait, however, the action of tomorrow night's council.

Thankful.
The Milton Messenger says: Mr. A. J. Denison, partner with W. T. Morgan in the management of the Morgan house, has withdrawn from the business. In his departure Mr. Denison takes with him the thanks of the traveling public.

Mr. Denison may be pleased to have the Messenger announce that the traveling public thanks him for getting out of the establishment, but if we should pull one of our landlords in that way, there would be a sore-headed editor around this establishment.

CITIZENS CONVERTING THEMSELVES INTO POLICEMEN.
Two of the unusual stunts pulled off by prospective policemen and Chief of Police McWeeney of Chicago.

Chicago, Ill.—Actual attempts by men to qualify themselves for the civil service examination for the police force in this city exceed the wildest flights of imagination and present a most unusual form of "cheating." One man in order to increase his weight to the required amount, drank four pounds of water and attempted through this water cure to convert himself from a private citizen to a policeman. A negro applicant allowed a friend to hit him over the head with a club in order that the swelling might increase his stature sufficiently to come within the height qualifications.

Another hung from a horizontal bar for over half an hour in an attempt to stretch his stature one-half inch. "Got to make it some way," he told the persons who questioned him regarding the athletic feat. "I have been hanging here for the last twenty minutes and am due to go to be measured in about ten more. Whenever the men are discovered attempting to qualify through these methods, they are debarred from examination."

Idea Every Mother Has.
Called to bedside of a fond mother's baby boy, the doctor diagnosed the ailment as acute rheumatism. The mother responded quickly: "Acute rheumatism. I might have known it; everything he does or says is just as cute."

Always in Readiness.
There was an officer in Rome whose business it was to always have his doors open in order to receive any Roman who applied to him for help.

"Mrs. Cump, you should introduce correct diction into your family life. For instance, does your husband eat pie with avidity?"
"No'm; he eats it with his knife."
